So, upskilling?

- The Project Management landscape is changing rapidly
- Complexity continues to increase
- Technology is advancing rapidly
- This impacts the way we manage projects and staying current is key

Is AI going to steal my job?

Don't become irrelevant

Is AI going to steal my job?

- AI won't replace you, but if you don't upskill you might become obsolete
- Use technology to your advantage
- It takes away the mundane and give us time for the 'value add'
- Which improves Project delivery, so everyone's a winner!

Oops, we forgot the basics

The ABC's of Project Control

Oops, we forgot the basics

- We are neglecting the essentials and this has a significant impact
- Clear communication, accurate data and smart planning is key
- Technology & tradition is not an either-or option, it's a balance

Organisations can be the heroes of this story

Upskilling your staff benefits everyone

Organisations can be the heroes of this story

- Organisational aspirations set the tone for upskilling
- Lay the groundwork by investing in early careers
- Don't forget about your experienced staff
- It doesn't just benefit your staff, it benefits you too!

Spice up your strategy...

How organisations can support

Spice up your strategy...

- Invest in training for a skilled and adaptable workforce
- Find the technology that works for your organisation and adopt it
- Promote a culture that values continuous development

Hey you, you too!

Individuals have a responsibility too

Hey you, you too!

- Your organisation shouldn't be doing all of the work here!
- Find relevant training that aligns with the evolution of Project Controls
- Keep up to date with trends, technologies and best practices
- Build your professional network

What was the point again?

The vital role of continuous upskilling

What was the point again?

- Know yourself - what are your strengths & weaknesses?
- Get a game plan - set some goals, make them manageable & achievable
- Network, network, network!
- Most importantly: Invest in yourself!

THANK YOU
